The house committee on naval affairs has agreed to report favorably the bill of Representative Harris, providing for the reorganization of the navy The bill is accompanied by an elaborate report, which was unanimously adopted. Effort will be made to have an early day set for its consideration by the house.

The house committee on railway and canals has adopted the report of a sub committee in favor of a bill to aid the construction of a railroad from San Antonio, Texas, to Laredo, on the Rio Grande The bill was ordered favorably reported to the house with the request that it be recommitted for further consideration.

The house committee on coinage to day agreed to report favorably Warner's bill which provides for the free coinage of gold and silver, and the issue of certificates on deposits of gold and silver bullion, and that such certificates shall be legal tenders for all purposes. The bill also prohibits any further issue of national bank notes

The senate elections committee has virtually closed Ingall's case, council have two weeks to prepare.

The senate committee on appropriations has suspended their findings in regard to the fortifications appropriation bill, and finally have decided to report the bill back to the senate to-morrow with a recommendation that the amount granted by the house for the armament of sea coast fortifications namely, $25,000, to be increased to $400,000 The committee will also recommend an increase of $50,000 in the house item for the preservation and repair of fortifications. The terms of the provision for the armament of fortifications are amended by the senate committee so as to include not only the conversion of smooth bores into rifled ordnance, but also specifically to manufacture four improved breech loading rifled guns of twelve inch calibre.

Comment on the Harris Naval Bill.

Representative Harris' bill which was unanimously adopted by the naval committee, is intended as the forerunner of legislation looking to complete the organization of the navy, and authorizes the secretary of the navy to cause to be made a thorough inspection of all vessels in the navy and all stores and material, and to sell such as are pronounced unworthy. The bill provides for the establishment of a permanent construction fund of the navy, which shall comprise appropriations made therefor, from time to time by congress, and the proceeds arising from the sale of old condemned vessels of the navy and condemned materials, stores and supplies, which fund shall be used and expended by the secretary of the navy in the construction, armament and equipment of new naval vessels, and for no other purpose.

MOB WAR IN NORTHERN VIRGINIA.

Riot in the Shenandoah Valley—Troops Under Orders.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

RICHMOND, Jan 28—Telegrams received here this morning state that intense excitement prevails in Shenandoah county, in consequence of an apprehended collision between white and black laborers at Columbia furnace, near Edinburg, in that county Governor Halliday has received a telegram from the sheriff of Shenandoah, asking for the assistance of troops to aid in quelling the riot, and also one from Capt. Magrueder, of the Woodstock military company, stating that he has notice of a serious riot at the point mentioned, and asking for orders what to do. The governor immediately replied directing him to place his command at the disposal of the sheriff for the preservation of peace. Other telegrams received by members of the legislature from the Shenandoah valley confirm the above report

RICHMOND, Jan 28.—State Senator H H Riddleberger, of Shenandoah county, to-night received the following in relation to the riots in that county

WOODSTOCK, Jan 28

Left Columbia furnace at 4 P. M. Everything was quiet there, and it is reported by Dr Armstrong to be quiet at the Liberty furnace. An attack on some negroes was made at Liberty furnace last night and two men wounded. The rioters then dispersed with threats to return to-night.

An Empty Indorsement of Davitt and Brennan

DUBLIN, Jan. 28—The nationalists of county Mayo have decided to make Michael Davitt and Thos Brennan under indictment for sedition, candidates for the county for parliament, on the understanding that if elected they shall not take their seats The prospects for their election are considered good

The Third Term and Empire.

[George William Curtis in Harper's Weekly, Rep]

If he were president for the third time and the tradition of two terms were once overthrown, why might it not be said in 1884 still more cogently that he had greatly served the country and ought to be again elected. Would not such apparently logical and reasonable action, to which the constitution offers no bar, necessarily familiarize the public mind with a perpetual presidency? Would not the impatience and disgust already felt by many with the increasing turmoil and excitement attendant upon the quadrennial election generate a disposition under certain circumstances we suppose, to dispense with such an election? Again would not the same circumstances necessarily foster confidence in personal government and encourage the feeling that this or that man is necessary to the peaceful continuance and administration of the government? And can any idea be more pernicious and dangerous? Once more when the two term tradition is gone and some president of uncertain uprightness and patriotism in full command of the patronage, should come to the end of the second term, would not a powerful restraint upon his ambition and resolution have been removed.

Mr Thos Cowan a pioneer of Douglas county died at Yoncalla last week. He was aged sixty years and was widely known and respected

SEVERAL QUESTIONS

OREGON CITY Jan 28 1880

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Will you please answer through your widely circulated paper the following questions

1 Is there not money enough in this country to erect all the factories necessary for the country's use?

2 Is there any law to prohibit their being erected in the south and west or is the protective tariff for the benefit of New England alone?

3 May not a New Englander or any one else, running a factory to great profit under the present protective tariff increase the capacity of the factory to do work as long as he has the money to pay for it, though he be making steel rails?

4 Do you not believe that if our tariff was repealed or modified so as to afford no protection goods would come in here cheap and that nine out of ten factories in the United States would stop work?

5 Would not those goods though cheap have to be paid for?

6 If the balance of trade was as much against us as it is now in our favor how long would it take to draw the greater part of the gold and silver out of the United States

7 Will you please tell us what greenbacks and bank notes would be worth with us [illegible] to back them up?

8 If labor was as cheap in this country as in any other could not factories be carried on here as profitably as in any other country

9 If I, as a laborer could buy [illegible] under free trade administration that which now costs me $1 [illegible] could I as well work for $1 as for $1 [illegible] If however, I could lay by one third of one full my wages for a wet day or old age is it not better as it now is, and would it not require one third more to pay my present debts?

10 Does not cheap goods simply dear money? Do you know of any standard by which to measure the value of gold except [illegible] amount of labor or the product of labor it will buy?

11 Do you think it would be good policy to shape the tariff so as to increase the value of gold one third in the hands of those who have it and to whom it is due and to become [illegible]

12 Does not labor or the product of labor of the [illegible] feed the farm in family and [illegible] entitled to some consideration as well as the [illegible] the clean [illegible] living by his wits

13 Is not the real reason why there are not enough factories in the south and west the same men who have and [illegible] that they are to better [illegible] notwithstanding protective tariff

14 If factories should spring up in the south and west as plentiful as in New England would it be likely to be detrimental to the people of those sections of the country and [illegible] them

15 Does not all this talk about New England's monopoly and protection tariff [illegible] just this and nothing else—that labor is too well paid in the United States

16 Do you believe it would be to the interest of the American people to place the laborer here [illegible] with the laborer in Europe and all other countries that we have free trade with?

Ferry submitted the following resolutions

Resolved That the senate has received with profound sorrow the announcement of the death of Zachariah Chandler late senator of the United States from the state of Michigan and for nearly nineteen years a member of this body

Resolved That the senate [illegible] to express its [illegible] of the many services in his long public career rendered [illegible] conspicuously [illegible] that the business of the senate be now suspended that the associates of the departed senator may pay a fitting tribute to his public and private virtues

The resolutions were unanimously agreed to

Ferry also submitted the following

Resolved That as the loss the country has sustained in the death of Senator Chandler was manifest by expressions of public sorrow throughout the land

Resolved That as a mark of respect for the memory of the deceased senator the members of the senate will wear crape upon the left arm for 30 days

Resolved That the secretary of the senate inform the house of representatives of this action

Resolved That as a national mark of respect the senate do now adjourn

Anthony followed

The galleries are crowded and there is a full attendance of senators

Bayard was the next speaker After speaking highly of Chandler's personal character he said For the rest, I feel that we are too near his active political life to express positive judgments upon it and justly measure so vigorous and influential a character as his

Hamlin Blaine, Logan and Morrill followed Bayard all speaking highly of Chandler's integrity and the vigor and sincerity of his character

Blaine also delivered a warm eulogy

Morrill Bair Cameron and Baldwin made remarks in a similar vein after which the resolutions were adopted and the senate adjourned

THE MANSION HOUSE COMMITTEE

Reports that Relief has been Granted in an Unfair and Partial Manner Denied

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DUBLIN Jan 28—The Mansion House committee has issued the following address to the editors of the United States and Canada A statement, reported in Irish newspapers to have been made at a meeting at Buffalo New York on Sunday, that defaulters in payment of rent are excluded from the Mansion House relief, was considered at a public meeting of this committee The committee desires to say that this statement, if made, is totally without foundation, and that it is impossible to conceive how it could have been uttered Real distress is the only condition for obtaining assistance from this committee It acts exclusively through local organizations which include clergymen and representative laymen of all denominations and opinions rendering impossible the alleged distinction between the sufferers This committee meets three time weekly, and is composed of representative men of all shades and opinions whose sole anxiety is to keep other fellow-countrymen from perishing of hunger The meetings of this committee are open to the press Also with reference to a statement alleged to have have been made at Rochester N Y it is hardly necessary to say that no individual newspaper was privy in the organization of this fund and that it is utterly incorrect to say that any outsider paid for telegrams sent by this committee The first telegram the committee itself paid for and subsequent telegrams and this were sent free through the associated press by the generosity of the Anglo American Telegraph Co"

EDISON'S INVENTIONS.

How Several of them are Controlled—A Wonderful Patent Medicine

There is considerable curiosity as to how Edison's inventions are to be controlled From the New York Exchange we gather as follows,

The Edison Electric Light Company is organized with a capital of $300,000, divided into $100 shares It is claimed that it owns all the rights which accrue to Prof. Edison's discoveries and inventions in the way of producing light by means of electricity. It is said three shares were sold on Monday at $3500 per share, and the report was that $5000 was bid

The Edison Ore Milling Co is organized with 3500 shares the par value being $100 a share. This company is to operate Prof Edison's system of extracting gold and silver from ore The results of this system are said to be wonderful a much higher percentage of the precious metals being saved than has been practicable under any of the old methods of reduction

The Edison Polyform Co is organized to manufacture and sell a medical preparation for the cure of neuralgia Prof Edison has been a great sufferer from this disease and it is said that he found complete relief through the application of this remedy devised by himself It is soon to be offered through the trade, an order for 1,000,000 bottles having been given to a Pittsburg glass factory lately The Polyform Co has a capital of $350,000, divided into $100 shares

A Philadelphia Voice Against Grant

[Philadelphia Evening Telegraph, Rep]

To us the republican party never seemed in such peril as at the present time for its blind leaders ignoring public prejudice and feeling seem determined to wreck it upon this third term rock They are leaving out the people the majority of the voters of the United States without whose aid their treat schemes must come to naught. Besides that they are doing infinite injury and placing in jeopardy the fame of the great and skillful soldier General Grant by forcing him into a contest he cannot win As a soldier his countrymen cannot too much honor him but as a presidential candidate they will not vote for him [illegible] nationalities conservatives and independents are all opposed to his re election precedents traditions and good policy also oppose it and his nomination would but bring upon him the bitterness of defeat—a shame from which he should be preserved

The Democratic Party and the Tariff

[From the Chicago Tribune]

The democratic majority in the present congress like the majority in the last congress will probably [illegible] to report [illegible] any bill for the [illegible] of the tariff laws The democratic party is [illegible] free trade and [illegible] protective [illegible] it is [illegible] favor [illegible] currency are things of the past and are no longer apart of its policy [illegible] hypocrisy in this respect is as noticeable as in many others

REVIEW OF STATE AFFAIRS.

AN INTERESTING RECORD FOR THE TAXPAYERS OF THE STATE

General Reorganization of the Organized Offices—Its Economical Administration and its Results.

SALEM Jan [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Imbued with the curiosity peculiar to [illegible] of the [illegible] but pardonable [illegible] in a native [illegible] Yankee citizen, we have recently [illegible] ourselves into a committee with the avowed purpose of investigating somewhat the affairs of our present democratic state administration and having secured some interest [illegible] facts and figures have concluded to [illegible] them down and now presume upon your indulgence and [illegible] by [illegible] your pull [illegible] the [illegible] of our searches. We can assure you in the first place that it was with no little misgiving our part that we concluded to beard the lion in his den but with a firm determination to get at the bottom facts we mustered up sufficient courage to interview in turn several of our state officers and their subordinates And be it said to their credit they rendered us all the assistance in their power and unreservedly answered our inquiries apparently courting just criticism and fearless of its consequences. It so happened that we approached them when they were not otherwise engaged and every facility was afforded us to secure just the facts that we most desired and having made a note of them we think they will prove of interest to your readers and give them a glance at the inside workings of what Governor Thayer insists is an economical if not strictly a virtuous administration

Current Expenses

In order to present this matter in a thoroughly comprehensive manner it will be necessary in the first place to present a few figures of a general character By reference to the general appropriation bill we learn that the legislative assembly at its biennial session in 1878 made appropriations to the amount of $429 352 29 as follows

Executive fund	$ 13 10 00
General fund	34 6[illegible] 00
Fugitive fund	2 000 00
Incidental fund	1 000 00
Convict fund	1 000 00
Insane fund	8 400 00
Printing fund	18 000 00
Insane and Idiotic fund	116 000 00
Penitentiary fund	[illegible] 80 00
Judicial fund	1 000 00
Indigent fund	2 000 00
Common school fund	3 450 00
State Land fund	1 000 00
Umatilla War fund	5 6[illegible]0 00
Flanagan Relief fund	1 [illegible]5 65
Dufur Relief fund	3 91 00
Capitol Building fund	29 000 00
University Building fund	[illegible] 841 07
Legislative fund	30 010 00
For past deficiencies	2[illegible] 228 57
Total amount appropriated	$429 352 29

Appropriations vs Revenue.

Accomplishing this object our legislators no doubt breathed freely once more They had discharged the responsibility thrust upon them by their constituents and having fixed by law the amount to be expended in running the state government for the ensuing two years, here their share of responsibility ceased and it became the duty of the state officers to apply the money to the various objects for which it was appropriated. A fact however that appears to have escaped the attention of our representatives is that the appropriations made exceeded by $17,632 2[illegible] the amount of revenue for the two years Or in other words they expect the present administration to pay liabilities to the amount of $429 352 29 with $370 4[illegible]3 96 the amount of revenue for two years derived from the four mill tax levied to meet the current expense of the state government To do this the present administration is required not only to apply all moneys derived from direct taxation as well as miscellaneous sources, but they will be of necessity compelled to reduce the expenses of the state government to a less amount even than that fixed by the legislature and thus save the state from assuming further indebtedness Whether or not this object will be accomplished remains to be seen To meet the above expenses we learn that the revenue from all sources for the present biennial term is as follows assuming also that all this year's tax will be collected

REVENUE FOR TWO YEARS

Four mill tax for 1878	$154 361 50
Four mill tax for 1879	185 482 66
Receipts from other sources from Sept 9 1878 to Jan 1 1880
From sale of books	[illegible] 83
From sale of insurance stamps	1 481 41
From state penitentiary	7 851 65
On account private insane	2 439 20
From miscellaneous sources	2 367 55
Amount remaining on hand of balance turned over by ex State Treasurer Brown ($27 015 34) after deducting $4 184 68 liabilities incurred prior to Sept. 9 1878	22 830 56
Outstanding delinquent tax collected applicable to current expenses	8 090 52
Total revenue	$418 27[illegible] 21

Thus it will be seen that the revenue of the state as shown above is $11 075 08 less than the expenditures should the appropriations be fully drawn This however will probably be avoided in a manner hereafter shown while it is claimed that further revenue of the state will be somewhat increased by money received between now and Sept 9 1880 the expiration of the present biennial term from some of the various resources enumerated above Unless therefore some unforeseen emergency should arise, it is perhaps safe to prophecy that the expenses of the present administration will be fully provided for and that none of the state warrants drawn since Sept 9 1878, and up to Sept 1 1880 will at that time be endorsed not paid for the want of funds This certainly looks encouraging and now let us see how it has been brought about, and to whom credit is due

The various departments are in a measure individually responsible for the condition of certain funds Cognizant of this fact it is our desire to segregate their results and endeavor if possible to point out those directly responsible for them and at the same time draw some comparisons between the expenses of the present administration and those of the past. This is not done with a desire to cast reflections upon the Grover Chadwick administration as that is none of our fight but simply to show your readers that our present state officers are apparently true to the trust reposed in them and that the state finances are carefully managed which fact cannot be more fully shown than in drawing these comparisons odious though they may prove to the Bourbon democracy Desirous of course, of doing justice to all parties concerned and giving honor where honor is due we would deal first and foremost with that branch of the state government in which His Excellency Gov Thayer is more particularly interested and which is, in fact his especial pride it being the only branch outside of his routine official duties over which he has absolute control It proves no doubt a source of comfort and consolation to him when his enemies attack and accuse him of having done much that he ought not to have done and left undone those things which he ought to have done We have his political enemies to a full indulgence of abuse of the chief executive our duty being of a more pleasing character—to build rather than vindicate and to endeavor to build up rather than tear down. We would not however be understood as being an admirer of Gov Thayer's political career nor do we for a moment imagine him above criticism In fact many things connected with his administration deserve severe criticism but our desire is simply to give Gov Thayer credit for the good he has accomplished in managing the affairs in the

State Penitentiary,

Which under his direct supervision during the past fourteen months has certainly been carried on in a most economical manner and at an extent which when compared with that of former years appears surprisingly low [illegible] however he has been materially assisted by A Bush Esq superintendent of the prison and who by the way we are informed has never [illegible] drawn a dollar for his services and also by [illegible] W M [illegible] warden to whom great credit is due [illegible] [illegible] discipline [illegible] every hand [illegible] [illegible] under his supervision it has almost [illegible]

[illegible]

From [illegible] the [illegible] of state [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] have we learned [illegible] paid into the state treasury [illegible] [illegible] contractors for the same period [illegible] amounting to $9,202 04 we have [illegible] the state [illegible] the sum of $3 [illegible] 85 or a the merely nominal cost per convict daily [illegible] cent

The records show that the governor has during the time he has been in office commuted the sentences of [illegible] convicts and remitted the time allowed by law for good behavior and [illegible] in the cases of [illegible] others He has granted full pardon in but two instances Many [illegible] and [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] he has [illegible] pardoning power [illegible] here it was [illegible] The number of commutations certainly appears large but we have the list [illegible] with those whose [illegible] [illegible] at the [illegible] [illegible] investigations

The Land Department

Leaving [illegible] we [illegible] next to [illegible] the [illegible] of the Board of School Land Commissioners and we there found [illegible] Mr [illegible] the clerk of the board [illegible] [illegible] with the [illegible] of the state officials volunteered to aid [illegible] in our search by giving us all [illegible] information [illegible] examining certain [illegible] with the affairs [illegible] as well as the present administration which being accorded [illegible] upon examining the books and [illegible] by Col T H Cann the former clerk of the board whose fame as an accountant and [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] system became as it were a household word throughout the state Under the new management [illegible] has taken place and the office is now so thoroughly systematized as to [illegible] a credit to the state The [illegible] that never failed [illegible] of consolation and source of revenue to the last administration has been abolished and all money now received by the clerk of the board are paid into the state treasury All accounts against this department are now presented [illegible] [illegible] form audited by the board and reported to the secretary of state for payment by warrants drawn in regular form The books and records of the office are kept with the neatness and care of an experienced book keeper The difficulties met with by the recent investigating committee in finding no records kept of the proceedings of the old board have been obviated and every transaction and decision of the present board is carefully recorded in books kept for that purpose the proceedings of every meeting being spread upon the records and open for public inspection In addition to these there is kept a regular set of books such as are found in our commercial houses and balances can be struck at any time and the condition of any fund ascertained with but little difficulty Blanks of all kinds have been provided for the convenience of the office and prompt transactions of business with the public All accounts are kept with the nicety and precision of a wholesale business house and information as to the public lands belonging to the state can be furnished with only the delay necessary for the examination of the records of the office which before Mr McCornack came in were not complete by any means When a sale is now made a certificate of such sale is given to the purchaser a duplicate being filed in the office of the board which an account is kept of payments made from time to time These in turn are carefully indexed and can be readily referred to at any time When the payments are all made and deed given these facts are also shown thus avoiding confusion and insuring justice to all parties concerned At our request Mr McCornack furnished us with the following detailed statement of the receipts of his office from November 13 1878 to January 21 1880 the time intervening since he took charge of the office

This shows an increase of receipts during the term of the present board of $46 1[illegible]4 07 over that of a corresponding period during Col Cann's incumbency

During Mr McCornack's clerkship there have been issued 4[illegible]6 deeds, representing the transfer of 47 378 acres of state lands. In addition to this 2[illegible]3 certificates of sale have been issued representing 27 0[illegible] acres We regret our inability to present comparative statements of like transactions during the preceding term for owing to the disordered condition of the books it was too laborious a task for us to undertake Taking however other statistics as a criterion by which to judge it is safe to presume the number of acres sold was much less. Notwithstanding however this increase in the amount of business transacted and the corresponding increase of clerical labor performed the expenses of the office have not increased in proportion On the contrary they are of a decidedly inverse ratio and as compared with the expenses of the preceding two years present some startling facts On examination we find that during the two years ending Aug 31 1878 the expenses of the land office as shown by books and records on file in the state departments amounted to $14 00[illegible] 26 Of this amount Col Cann's cash book shows us that about $3,856 81 was paid out without warrant or appropriation, and of the remaining amount but $9250 was appropriated by the legislative assembly of 1876 The legislature of 1878 appropriated $4400 for the expenses of the land department which includes the salary of the clerk maps attorneys fees in state cases, stationery postage and all incidental expenses which sum we learn will be amply sufficient to meet the expenses of the office until September 1 1880 This denotes a decrease in the expenses of this department of $96[illegible] [illegible]6 for the present two years as compared with those of the preceding biennial term Meetings of the board are held at regular intervals and its business is, we learn, transacted with commendable promptness Applications for loans are numerous and no difficulty is experienced in placing the state loans in good hands with ample security The acts of the board have we perceive been severely criticised in some instances but as a rule its transactions will we feel confident bear full and complete investigation

The Secretary of State

We here meet and are introduced to Hon R P Earhart, secretary of state, and his assistant Frank F Hodgkin and are welcomed with the peculiar suavity characteristic of Mr Earhart and which adds so materially to his popularity in private as well as in public life. We notice radical changes in this office the routine of which has been so systematized as to insure a careful record of the transactions of the state department Order now reigns supreme where two years ago chaos was manifest. The office throughout has been thoroughly reorganized and is to-day in better condition than ever before Mr Earhart has personal and immediate supervision of its workings in all details and nothing is left undone that will add to the thoroughness and completeness of his official record New accounts have been opened and new books introduced The books now kept are simple while accurate and can be readily understood by any one Duplicate receipts given by the state treasurer are here kept on file, carefully aggregated and the amounts charged to the various funds The abstract of warrants drawn is a history in itself and shows for what purpose and to whom every cent drawn from the state treasury has been paid Accounts are also kept with the various funds [illegible] and [illegible] school state library state university agricultural college etc so that at any time the amounts expended or their support may be easily ascertained [illegible] records of the [illegible] have been carefully classified and [illegible] ready referred to Vouchers for all [illegible] are carefully [illegible] and filed away where they can be easily found Records are also kept of the inmates of our state as admitted into the asylum of the commutations and remissions of sentences by the governor of commissions issued [illegible] articles of incorporation filed of [illegible] [illegible] of certificates of deposit by insurance companies etc etc necessitating no small amount of labor The whole however is complete [illegible] and accurate in detail The offices throughout the building have under Mr Earhart's supervision been newly furnished and much more convenient [illegible] are [illegible] with the legal [illegible] of the capitol building [illegible] [illegible] we were rendered all the assistance [illegible] asked for and were allowed [illegible] to the books and records [illegible] [illegible] of the past administration Mr Earhart remarking [illegible] that the books as kept by his deputy Mr [illegible] would speak for themselves [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] first [illegible] the [illegible]

Convict Fund

On a careful examination [illegible] of books [illegible] [illegible] fund [illegible] by Mr Earhart [illegible] [illegible] the two years ending Sept [illegible] [illegible] has been received at the penitentiary from [illegible] [illegible] being $1400 [illegible] [illegible] $1 600 was [illegible] by the legislature [illegible] [illegible] deficiencies of the preceding two [illegible] The [illegible] Here [illegible] [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] Mr Earhart's [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] amount [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] the amount [illegible] in the [illegible] [illegible] legislature [illegible] [illegible] little sum of $6[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] treasury When we take into consideration [illegible] that he is the [illegible] [illegible] these accounts under the same laws as did his predecessor it will be seen that in this instance at least the amount thus saved is due entirely to Mr Earhart's ability and construction of the law governing such cases, and in which construction he has thus far been sustained by the courts. He has audited the accounts carefully his chief aim being to protect the interests of the state The cutting off of the mileage alone has [illegible] that his result [illegible] these accounts have been closely watched and the corners clipped promiscuously

The Insane Fund

[illegible] reduction in the expenses of the state [illegible] [illegible] the patients to be [illegible] under the law of 1868 [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] the two years [illegible] [illegible] the same [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] sum period which were [illegible] paid after he came into office

During the same time [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] to receive [illegible] $1033 32.

Insane and Idiotic Fund

The average number of patients in the asylum for the year ending Aug 31 1878 as shown by the superintendent's report was [illegible] For their care and treatment the state paid Dr Hawthorne $7[illegible] [illegible] an average of $2[illegible]3 52 per year for each patient [illegible] per day

The average number of patients for the year ending Aug 31 1879 was we find 2[illegible]2 and the amount paid Dr Hawthorne for their care and treatment $64 8[illegible] This is at the rate of $[illegible] 36 per year for each patient or 71 cents per day The amount thus annually saved on each patient is $31 10 or $8 [illegible] per year on the 2[illegible]2 patients cared for The expenses of the insane asylum for the year above named were $2 150 02 less than those of the year previous, while the average number of patients was [illegible] more

Additional Savings.

The amount paid for services of the [illegible] canal and locks commissioners for the time intervening between Sept 1 1876 and October 1, 1878 was $6 779 [illegible] to which may be added $500 appropriated by the last legislature for attorney fees connected with the same making a cost to the state of $[illegible] 24 for services which for the two years ending Aug 31, 1880 will have cost the state but $1 [illegible] [illegible]—another leakage being stopped whereby the state will save $5 67[illegible] [illegible]6 in two years time

The State Printing.

The amount paid for public printing for the two years ending Aug 31 1878 as shown by the books of the secretary of state was $25 000 and deficiencies were reported to the legislative assembly of 1878 of $1 0[illegible] making the total amount charged the state for work performed and material furnished $29 053 77

On further examination we find that the amount thus far expended for public printing during the present biennial term is $11 [illegible]38 50 In addition to this we learn that M V Brown ex state printer has presented a bill for printing done for the state reports etc during the commencement of the legislative assembly of 1878 amounting to $[illegible]066 settlement of which is still pending To these amounts add the sum of $4[illegible] appropriated by the last legislature for stitching and binding done by Mrs C D Snyder, and all told the expense of public printing for present biennial term amounts to $[illegible] 964 50 or $8089 27 less than that expended for like purposes during the preceding two years It is claimed however there will be no necessity for paying the amount claimed by Brown as it is covered by delinquencies in accounts heretofore rendered This however is a question yet to be determined by the courts

State Treasurer's Office.

We paid our respects to Hon Edward Hirsch state treasurer and through him were made acquainted with his assistant A F Wheeler Esq to both of whom we are placed under obligations for information furnished We were more especially desirous of ascertaining the condition of the various trust funds in that Judge Deady, president of the board of regents of the state university in his annual report to the governor published recently in the columns of THE OREGONIAN saw fit to attack State Treasurer Hirsch, and through him the board of school land commissioners, for what he intimated was a neglect of duty in not enforcing more strictly the collection of the university fund interest, all of which is applied to the support of his pet institution We found the various trust funds in good condition save some of those loaned by the former board, for the actions of which the present board cannot be held responsible The common school fund principal in the treasurer's office amounted Jan 1 1880 to $115 735 52, including notes and a judgment of $1000 Of this amount $9[illegible] 319 73 was turned over by ex Treasurer Brown showing an increase in the fund from Sept 9, 1878 to Jan 1 1880, of $18 355 79 The interest on the university fund has been collected closely which interest as fast as collected has been turned over to the authorities at Eugene City From Sept. 9 1878 to January 10 1880, there has been collected and paid over to J J Walton, Esq secretary of the board of regents of the State University interest on the university fund to the amount of $5897 and the further sum of $3500 appropriated by the last legislature, or a total of $935[illegible] in a trifle over 17 months which notwithstanding Judge Deady's growl may be considered a pretty good haul The agricultural college fund is reported in an excellent condition the principal of which when turned over by ex Treasurer Brown amounted to $32,546 68 against $46 273 82 on hand in money and notes Jan 1 1880 showing an increase in the fund of $13 727 14 Mr Hirsch has collected interest on this fund to the amount of $1 [illegible]69 04 which has been paid over to Prof B L Arnold, president of the finance committee of the State Agricultural College at Corvallis as provided by law together with $417[illegible] 16 appropriated by the legislative assemblies of 1876 and 1878 The demand for university lands has decreased somewhat during the last two years and the principal in that fund has not increased at the same rate as has the other trust funds in the hands of the state treasurer The principal as turned over by Treasurer Brown amounted in money and notes to $4[illegible] 448 75 The fund now amounts to $48 889 49 showing an increase of $3 [illegible]90 74

The interest on the public debt has been paid with commendable promptness and the debt reduced by the payment of some $4000 in lock bonds and the redemption of such bounty bonds as have been presented In addition to this outstanding warrants of 18[illegible] and 18[illegible] have been redeemed to the amount of $159 2[illegible] 97 Of these warrants there were still outstanding on the first day of January 1880 (approximately) $134 889 66 including principal and interest the larger portion of which will be paid between now and Sept 1 1880 Other claims against the state are as follows [illegible] warrants principal and interest $2[illegible] [illegible] soldiers bounty bonds $3[illegible] 00 soldiers [illegible] [illegible] $[illegible] lock bonds $[illegible] 000 Modoc war bonds $[illegible] and Umatilla Indian war bonds $[illegible] 22 The interest on the bonded debt above [illegible] amounts to $2[illegible] 13 90 per annum in [illegible] with [illegible] of the late Umatilla war [illegible] [illegible] paid in [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] mentioned The books of the office as kept by Mr Wheeler are models of neatness and are kept with that accuracy and precision so necessary to the welfare of the state finances Mr Hirsch is a financier of [illegible] ability and under his immediate [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

LANDS,
PEN D'OREILLE DIVISION.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY
Is now offering for sale nearly 5 000,000
Acres of its lands in the Pen d'Oreille Division in Eastern Oregon which are comprised in the odd numbered sections for forty miles on each side of the railroad as now located from the mouth of Snake River in Washington Territory, to Lake Pen d'Oreille in Idaho These lands of unexcelled fertility and adapted to farming on any scale that may be desired are offered by the Railroad Company at such prices and terms as cannot fail to induce settlement and cultivation causing a rapid growth in population of the country and increase in value to those who now purchase.

The following Resolution of the Board of Directors of the Railroad Company passed November 19th, 1879 fixes the cash price of land to actual settlers at two dollars and sixty cents per acre, which it is believed is a lower price than has ever been voluntarily placed upon its lands by any land grant company This is, in fact cheaper than the settler can purchase the same class of land of the Government under the pre-emption law, for the expense attending the making of final proof and the journey to the land office which he must necessarily make in order to complete his entry, is more than the ten cents per acre added to the government price by the Railroad Company

Resolved That the Agricultural Lands of the Company west of the Missouri river to Puget Sound shall be offered for sale to actual settlers at Government price of $2 50 per acre with an addition thereto of ten cents per acre to be paid to the Company to reimburse it for the cost of selecting, surveying and conveying said land

This resolution does not apply to coal or iron lands nor to lands chiefly valuable for timber, nor to lands required for town sites or suitable for manufacturing sites nor in regions where water is scarce to lands containing springs or other natural supply where it shall be for the interest of settlers as large that such water privileges shall not be exclusively held or controlled by any individual, nor to the lands required for the use of the Company in connection with the operation of the road.

To persons wishing to purchase on time the remarkably low price of four dollars per acre is given on the following terms; One fourth cash at time of purchase, the balance in three equal yearly payments at 7 per cent interest. The above price or time sales is adopted for the present, but may be subject to change in the future.

All persons who have filed with the Railroad Company notices of intention to purchase or "Settlers Applications" as they are called for land in this Division (except for the class of lands reserved by the terms of the resolution above given) and who have continued to reside upon or cultivate the and applied for, are requested to complete their purchase by making cash payment, or time contract, for the same. For this purpose application should be made to the Railroad Land Office at Colfax

Persons who have not made actual settlement or improvement upon land they may have applied or have no rights to the first privilege of purchase, such lands will be sold to the first applicant. Those persons who have in good faith settled upon and improved the Company's land should lose no time in securing the same, as after a given time the land is subject to sale to any other person

The land in this division being now offered for sale no more "Settlers Applications will be filed

OLD LEADERS AND NEW MEN

How rarely prominent men who have actively sought the presidency have succeeded in obtaining it has been noticed by every observer of our politics. In the times of the early presidents it did indeed sometimes happen that a political schemer who sought the position obtained it. Jefferson's success was the most conspicuous instance among these. And later Buchanan, who was an old stager in politics and who had sought the presidency for many years, gained at last the object of his ambition. But the rule has been that the conspicuous men who have sought the honor and made it the object of almost thoughts and strongest efforts have been pushed aside and beaten by new men upon whom the opposition to leaders of prominence and distinction have always been ready to combine.

Not to go back further than 1840 we are able to find many instances in proof of the assertion that the prominent man who is a recognized political leader, and whose position in his party and before the country would seem naturally to designate him for the presidency fails to reach that high place. In 1840 the whigs who for many years had been regularly beaten, had at last, through democratic blunders and force of accidental circumstances obtained a chance to elect the president. Clay was their great leader and the man who naturally should have been their candidate. At that time he probably would have been elected by an overwhelming majority. But he was put aside for Harrison. In 1844 Clay was made the candidate. "Justice to Henry Clay" was the word under which his nomination was carried. But the times had changed, and the great leader who would have been elected four years before, was defeated. He still retained the hope of gaining the great honor, but Taylor's nomination in 1848 settled it forever that Clay, though idolized by more men and women than any other political leader the country had ever known was never to be president.

Before the democratic national convention of 1844 met, the majority of the delegates had been pledged to Van Buren. He was a very adroit politician, respectable in ability and character, and was the favorite candidate of many of the professional politicians of his party. But in his long political career he had provoked many animosities. The dilemma offered in the convention was to defeat the promises or instructions of a majority of the delegates, or to suffer defeat at the polls. Van Buren was set aside and Polk, a relatively obscure man, was nominated. Though he had been speaker of the house of representatives, many persons were obliged to ask who he was, and there was no little pleasantry among his supporters, and no little sneering among his opponents, in consequence of the inquiry. But this obscure candidate defeated Clay, who had been a candidate for twenty years, but who, while immensely popular with a large portion of his party, was nevertheless not the man for the occasion. The fatality which keeps our most prominent men out of the presidency never destroyed the hopes of a more illustrious leader. In 1848 Taylor was elected because he was a military hero. Cass, his opponent, was an old politician, who had been too conspicuous to allow him chance of success. In 1852, Gen. Scott, universally known and of great reputation, was beaten by Pierce, who was so obscure that many people were obliged to inquire, as in the case of Polk, who this man might be. In 1856 Buchanan an old politician, was nominated because of his availability. Douglas, the real leader of the northern democracy would not do because he was not sound on the slavery question. In 1860 Lincoln, a new man, was nominated by the republicans over Seward, the recognized leader of the party. Grant was the available man in 1868, and in 1872, because he had not been a politician and therefore had made no political enemies, and because his record as the great military chieftain who had quelled the rebellion marked him as the man to be placed at the head of the nation at a period when the results of the war were still disputed and assailed. In 1876, the most prominent candidates of the republican party including Blaine, were set aside, and Hayes became the nominee as a second choice. Tilden, an old politician, though he came so extremely near the presidency failed of election, as if to give further emphasis to the fact that the man who strives and schemes and agonizes for this great prize, will be disappointed at last.

Thus it has occurred that in every one of the last ten presidential elections, when a new man, selected for the sake of his availability, had for his competitor an old party leader, who had been prominent for a quarter of a century in high civil office, the former was successful, unless in the case of Buchanan, whose opponent was backed by a party which was not two years old. Buchanan was the only old political leader who has reached the presidency since the time of Van Buren. Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Cass, Douglas, Marcy, Thad. Stevens, Blaine, Seymour, Thurman and Hendricks, have had to look on while others less distinguished as orators and less noted as political managers have carried off the great presidential prize. The professional politicians dislike to nominate a man whom they have not nursed through many subordinate grades of advancement, so that they have learned his tricks and earned his favor, but the American people frequently look at the matter from a different standpoint, and it is folly in a popular election to disregard their wishes. It may be a great disappointment to the old politician and his friends to see an available man preferred but there is no reason for the complaint frequently made of incompetency or intellectual inferiority. The available men, generally, have possessed a practical prudence which made their administrations quite as successful as those of the old political leaders, as may be instanced now in the case of President Hayes as compared with his predecessors.

FREE COMMERCIAL INTERCOURSE

A communication from Oregon City presents a number of interrogatories upon which answers are requested. Most of the questions are based upon the assumption of the correctness of the protective or prohibitory tariff system, and to reply to them in detail would only be to expose the sophistries of pr[illegible] tion b[illegible] repetition of arguments which have often appeared in THE OREGONIAN. It is an absolute and unquestionable truth that all the protection which certain classes of business and industry obtain through this system is obtained at the expense of other classes of business and industry. Take the often mentioned instance of steel rails. Protection gives the eastern manufacturers high prices but at whose cost? Somebody must pay. And who is it? It is people situated as we are here who must have steel rails and yet cannot manufacture them at home. And why cannot we manufacture them? Simply because the market in a locality like this is limited because the rail works in the east are situated where they have a wide market and because the tariff under these conditions forces us to buy there and at high prices. And the same is true in all or nearly all leading lines of manufactured goods. This will explain why the west and south have so few factories. The existing system protects one part of the country at the expense of all the rest. As to placing our labor on an equality with that of Europe it may properly be answered that a community situated as we are here is placed under such burdens by a protective system for the benefit of eastern manufacturers that only superior natural advantages of our section keep our labor burdened as it is above a condition similar to that of the labor of Europe. So many and so great are our advantages that we have some prosperity in spite of so oppressive a system. But we should have incomparably greater prosperity were we allowed to buy where we could buy cheapest—an arrangement which would facilitate the other desirable object of trade namely to sell where we could sell dearest. For example our eastern states do not want what we have to sell but England does. Now is there any one who cannot see how greatly it would be to our advantage if restrictions and prohibitions were removed so that we could get certain things we want from England and England could get certain things she wants from us? In the freest possible intercourse are the best profits of trade.

A communication published yesterday on the indebtedness question contained a typographical error which should be corrected. The writer was speaking of deductions of indebtedness by each of several persons when they owe a debt jointly. That is suppose three persons are on a joint and several note, and each one deducts the full amount from his valuation. The writer wished to say that he was not sure but such triplicate deduction was permissible under our statute. He was made to say he was not sure but it was punishable under our statute, an error which entirely changed the meaning.

We have to-day a very comprehensive and interesting review of state affairs prepared with painstaking by a correspondent whose intelligence and accuracy we can readily vouch for. The review contains information which every citizen of the state who takes an interest in its affairs will be glad to obtain. It is moreover a showing which is highly creditable to the present administration and should satisfy the people that they have now what they have not had for years, to-wit, an honest, economical and responsible administration.

Garcelon, late governor of Maine, whose infamous official action came so near plunging that state into anarchy and civil war, is now at his home in Lewiston, and will resume the practice of medicine. He is not likely ever again to be in position to harm the people of Maine, unless circumstances should arise which would make it possible for him to render peculiar services to his party like those which made Dr Blackburn governor of Kentucky.

A few days ago "Gov" Smith, of Maine said "I have been chosen, and by —— I will be governor." His belligerency is now in a state of thaw and dissolution.

THE INDEBTEDNESS QUESTION

PORTLAND, Jan 28, 1880

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Whoever the writer is that sent you that communication in this morning's paper to the effect (quoting his own words) "that the Scottish Loan Company hold a large amount in mortgages on Oregon property and their notes are all made payable in Dundee, Scotland, and of course, (he says) are not returned for taxation in Oregon," either made a serious clerical or an intentional mistake. In the first place all our notes have been since 1877, and are now made payable in Oregon, and secondly, our property is returned for taxation at Portland (less deduction of indebtedness in this state) precisely in the same way as the other banks in this city do the truth of which the writer referred to could easily have ascertained had he, before singling us out as the only bank which did not pay taxes, examined the assessor's rolls for either the county of Multnomah or the city of Portland, or examined the books of the U S internal revenue office at Portland all which show the state, county and city taxes paid by the various banks in this city as follows

ON PERSONAL PROPERTY—MONEY, NOTES AND ACCOUNTS

1	First National Bank	None
2	Ladd & Tilton's Bank, assessed at	$840 000
3	Bank of British Columbia, assessed at	75 000
4	Bank British North America, assessed at	75 000
5	Oregon & Washington Mortgage Savings Bank (ourselves) at	$100 000

Thus you see we pay more taxes in proportion to the limited paid up capital we own ourselves than the other banks in this city although our attorneys advise us that we are not legally bound, unless we desire it, to pay any taxes in this state.

This writer also says—"Every person owing that company deducts the amount of his indebtedness from his valuation—and every dollar in the state is thus deducted." How is it with the other banks above named? Do their borrowers not deduct their indebtedness? If they do, why should our borrowers be prohibited from doing so since we pay our share of taxes equally as the other banks do, and as the law entitles us to do? However, the assessor of this county (Mr Sears) authorizes me to-day to say under his name and certificate that while our bank is assessed at $100 000 yet that the amount claimed as deduction of indebtedness by our borrowers from the county is only $50,000 showing a clear surplus of taxes paid by us on $50 000 whereas the amounts claimed by borrowers from the county in respect of debts due to other banks exceed the taxes they actually pay in the aggregate.

For instance, in his letter and certificate to me the assessor says the bank of Ladd & Tilton pays a tax on moneys, notes and accounts of $340 000 and yet the borrowers from that bank claim and were allowed by the county a deduction of their indebtedness to Ladd & Tilton of between $800 000 and $900 000 (the details of which he has) showing an apparent deficiency of $503 000, on which taxes have not been paid by some persons. If the assessor's figures are correct and they ought to be, then the question for you Mr Editor, to determine is which of the 5 banking institutions in this city pays net to the county the greatest amount of taxes after their borrowers indebtedness has been deducted? I would seem to be if the assessor is correct our bank. Apart from this the writer referred to is again wrong when he says that every dollar on notes payable in Dundee Scotland has been deducted. On the contrary if he examines the various county assessment rolls in those counties in western Oregon where we loaned moneys during the years 1874 1875, 1876 and 1877 which were the p[illegible] riods when our notes were made payable in Scotland, he will not find one single mortgage there deducted from any tax payer's property in Oregon so that the state was not deprived of one cent of taxes at the time the mortgages were then—although they are not now—made payable in Scotland. The county tax assessors and commissioners were very particular on this point all over the [illegible] as every one of the county assessors who were in office at that time can testify.

But why not assess [illegible] debtedness [illegible] out all notes whether [illegible] by mortgage or not bear a special tax [illegible] one per cent per year [illegible] one per cent [illegible] payable [illegible] which the mortgage tax [illegible] company [illegible] cheerfully pay this special tax [illegible] other tax. We have always [illegible] special tax [illegible] to advocate it for the reason that [illegible] perfect equality in taxes [illegible] its borrowers obtaining [illegible] indebtedness by borrowing on mortgage [illegible] from state banks in preference to foreign money lending institutions. Not only then would all notes whether secured by mortgage or personal security be taxed beyond question and that whether payable within or without the state the stamp on the note being affixed the same as is the case with the Oregon state insurance policy stamps, but as the deduction of indebtedness law would then be abolished altogether all property real or personal of whatever nature and wherever situated or found in the state would also be assessed and pay its share of taxes (as notes and mortgages would be) at the face or full market value of such real or personal property.

I regret exceedingly to have occupied so [illegible] this [illegible] but [illegible] this institution [illegible] were false I should not have written you hereupon [illegible]. But as there is an attempt to make [illegible] that the company I represent is [illegible] its thereby [illegible] understood that what we wish is [illegible] which will tax all notes [illegible] payable within the state or not.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN

WASHINGTON, Jan 29—12:30 A. M—Pacific coast regions clear or partly cloudy weather except light rains in Oregon

CITY.

THE TEN BOSCH THAYER MARRIAGE —Upon the occasion of the marriage of Mr J M ten Bosch and Miss Mary I Thayer last evening the Presbyterian church was filled to its utmost capacity The wedding party arrived shortly after 8 o clock and approached the altar by the left aisle in the following order Mrs Thayer the bride's mother upon the arm of Dr Lindsley the officiating minister Mr Paul Deady Mr C. Neale Mr Harry Molson and Mr Alex Monroe the ushers Miss Agnes Thayer third bridesmaid escorted by Mr W Joe Moran Miss Georgia Thayer second bridesmaid escorted by Mr Maxwell, Miss Annie Thayer first bridesmaid escorted by Mr Geo A Webb and the bride escorted by the groom The bride and bridesmaids were dressed alike in rich white satin the former being simply distinguished by the bridal veil The gentlemen appeared in conventional full dress Upon arriving before the altar Dr Lindsley pronounced the simple marriage ceremony of the church and offered a brief prayer after which the newly married pair followed by their attendants passed out by the right aisle The large party as it stood before the altar formed a rarely beautiful picture while the deep suppressed tones of the organ and the hushed stillness of the large company, united with the solemn beauty of the service, in rendering the occasion most impressive

REV. DR. SCHWAB —A copy of the American Israelite, published at Cincinnati, of Dec 26th has been placed on our table. A correspondent writing to that paper from St Joseph Mo., under date of Dec 16th has the following pleasant compliment to bestow on Rev Dr Schwab, who for some years, was Rabbi at the Synagogue Beth Israel in this city "Last Sunday was a red letter day in the annals of our congregation Our minister the Rev. Dr. Schwab, who has officiated here some six months, has through his upright conduct, nobility of character modest and unassuming manner, combined with a thorough knowledge of theology and rabbinical lore, endeared himself to the masses of our co-religionists Last Sunday at a meeting called for the purpose he was unanimously re-elected for a term of three years This was, indeed, a move in the right direction, and one of which the congregation may well feel proud They have shown by their action that they are capable of appreciating a minister of stainless character and moral worth."

DISCHARGED —A short time ago an old farmer named F. Rogerson, who lives beyond East Portland, became enamored of a woman named Carrie Woods whose private reputation was by no means cloudless. This woman it seems was an inmate of a very questionable resort known as the Ivy Green It was there that Rogerson first became acquainted with Carrie Woods. He made a proposition to marry her, to which she readily assented This occurred a few weeks ago, Their married life proved very unhappy Inspired at length by the green eyed monster, Rogerson caused her arrest yesterday morning, charging that his wife had a husband still living from whom she had never obtained a divorce. The case was tried yesterday before Justice Sybee. No evidence of the existence of a previous marriage could be produced further than the admission of the accused, and so the court discharged the defendant and dismissed the case.

GIVE HIM A CALL —Lovers of a choice and fragrant, Havana, or first class chewing tobacco, are reminded of the fact that Mr W H. Coburn, the old and favorably known typo, keeps these articles for sale at his place of business on First street, one door south of the Pine street Coffee House. He has for sale everything in the chewing or smoking line. Those who patronize him can be assured that they will purchase only first class merchandise; for he keeps no other kind. By keeping the best the market affords, and selling cheap, Mr. Coburn intends to merit a large share of the public patronage He certainly deserves it In addition Mr C keeps constantly on hand fruits and notions. Members of the "craft" in particular and the public generally are invited to give him a call.

ABOUT POET LAUREATES —A San Francisco exchange contains the following "Mr J B Whitehead, of Pyramid Nevada, has just published a noble lyric poem, which stamps him as the poet laureate of the Pacific coast Stephen Maybell, the Oregon poet, loses his bays by comparison. Mr. Whitehead's great effort is printed in full in the Virginia City Chronicle, filling two or three columns It deals with the adventures of a young lover, whose girl's father"

"Told him with oaths, that did his soul unman,
That Emma ne'er should wed a Missourian

Our Stephen has never attained such a dizzy altitude in any of his poetical flights. His famous "pome," "The Bridge Across the Willamette," must even be accorded a second place when compared to the above gem

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.—At the last meeting of the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society a committee of three persons was appointed to confer with the other Irish organizations of the city to secure their co-operation and participation in the forthcoming celebration of St, Patrick's Day. It is the intention of the Irish citizens to observe the day in the customary way—parade, music and oration The various Hibernian organizations of Portland will doubtless enter heartily into the movement, and the celebration in true spirit and magnitude will be equal to former occasions of a similar character.

A NEW CHAPEL —It is proposed by Rev. John Rosenberg, and the members of his congregation to build a new and handsome chapel at the southern end of First street car track, in place of one which was thrown down by the storm of the 9th inst A very respectable sum has already been subscribed toward the benevolent enterprise, and so soon as good weather prevails, the work of building will commence. The mission Sunday school which met at 9 o'clock each Sunday morning in the little chapel before its fall, now assembles regularly with undiminished attendance at St. Stephen's chapel

MAKING PREPARATIONS —The committee of fifteen, appointed a few days ago by the Portland Hibernian Benevolent Society to make preparations for a grand ball to be given on the evening of March 17th are not idle These gentlemen have already commenced the preparations necessary and there is every reason to predict that the forthcoming event will be an enjoyable social affair, and financially a gratifying success

CONTRIBUTIONS DESIRED —Contributions for the supper at the charity ball on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Ladies' Relief Society, may be left at Turn Halle on Friday afternoon, between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. Contributions from friends of the society who may not be members will be very acceptable.

A GOOD MOVE —Some evening next week a meeting will be held by the members of the society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals in the Y M C A Hall The purpose is to effect a reorganization of the society and to elect new officers Notice will be timely given of the date of such meeting

BOUND OVER.—Mrs Anderson and C S Anderson of East Portland who were arrested yesterday charged with adultery had a preliminary examination yesterday before Justice H W Davis The defendants were held to answer the charge before the grand jury each in the sum of $500

LECTURE.—Dr Simms, the well known lecturer will deliver a lecture at the hall of the Y. M C A this (Thursday) evening Admission 25 cents The entire proceeds of the lecture will be donated to the association Dr Simms having kindly volunteered his services free of charge

INSPECTED —The steamer Dixie Thompson was inspected a few days ago by James Lotan inspector of boilers and J [illegible] inspector of hulls Everything was found in first class order and the steamer's license was renewed

WILL ARRIVE —A B Singleton of the Northwest Coast Detective Agency will arrive on the Geo W Elder

MARRIAGE TO DAY —Mr Samuel D Adair of Astoria and Miss Mary Morris, daughter of Bishop Morris will be married to day at St Stephen's chapel at a quarter before 12 o clock Immediately following the ceremony a reception will be held at St. Helen's Hall the family residence

CLEARED —On the [illegible] inst the ship Michael Hutchinson cleared for Liverpool with the following cargo [illegible] 000 barrels of flour valued at $ [illegible] 00 [illegible] cases of [illegible] potatoes valued at $[illegible] Total valuation of cargo $[illegible]

Near at hand—the firemen's election

Due to morrow evening—steamer Elder

Steamer State of California off this morning

There is still considerable current in the river

Farmers will soon be busily engaged in seeding

The unpleasantness continues way down in Maine

Trains will hereafter run regularly through to Corvallis

Blue sky visible yesterday Fact fact sir and no mistake

Good coasting and the average Young America is happy

A touch of spring like yesterday makes all the world aglow

For the present the mails for Corvallis will go up by way of Albany

The public schools of the city were never in a more prosperous condition

Mr John S Lindsay is one of the company who will support Geo D Chaplin

Attorneys should file their papers in the county clerk's office before to morrow

Who would have thought a few years ago that you could go through to Corvallis by cars in 1880

Sprinkling sawdust and ashes on the side walks and aprons will save a great deal of street profanity

Should the three new ordinances pass, and their stringent provisions be enforced, it will make things lively in police court

In the U U S circuit court yesterday the motion for a new trial in the case of Tong Duck Chung & Co , vs John Kelly, was argued and taken under advisement

During this kind of weather a man needs something more than to go simply clothed in his right mind That costume may be sufficient in summer in the backwoods, where there are neither mosquitoes nor observers, only a pellucid pool , but out here it won t work

Take warning, ladies! A dressmaker out east recent broke a woman's rib while she was trying to fit a dress on her

I am dyeing Egypt, dyeing,
But the bald spot is so big
That it's useless longer trying
And I'll yield and wear a wig
—Exchange

HELPLESS ISOLATION.

The People of Nehalem Valley Penned in by Blockaded Roads.

The results of the recent great storm fall with severer hardship upon the little community of the Nehalem valley in Columbia county, than upon the people of any other section of the state Besides suffering the local losses and disasters thought severe in other localities the settlement has been reduced to a state of helpless isolation by the blockading of its road connections with the outer world These roads which at best were little better than trails pass for thirty miles or more through uninhabited wilds, and are now so thickly crossed and piled with prostrate trees that passage except to footmen, is impossible. Even this primitive and laborious method of transit is so impeded by obstructions as to be extremely difficult and slow To clear the road to the Columbia river at St Helens is a labor to which the resources of the settlement are entirely inadequate, and unless help from outside can be secured, the valley and its hundred new homes must be abandoned The people of St Helens, with whom the penned up community is somewhat connected by social and business relations, have liberally contributed money and work toward their relief Portland will also be called upon for aid and our merchants will do well to consider the appeal not so much as a matter of benevolence as of policy The opening of the route proposed will create a direct business between Nehalem valley and this city, which will in time become important

Love in a Cottage

A woman who writes from experience draws this picture of love in a cottage on a small income "A few months of ease and comfort then they begin to realize they are saving very little Retrenchment begins they move into a smaller house, perhaps sickness comes the little money laid by goes for drugs and other comforts have to be sacrificed to pay the doctor's bill, little helpless lives come calling for attention The young mother who could easily attend to her domestic affairs before, now finds all her time taken up with baby Duties that came easy then are irksome now, but they must be gone through with though the head aches and the limbs are weary, for a servant cannot be afforded

The husband too may have had his dreams of making life pleasant with the woman of his choice, and finds himself straining every nerve to make both ends meet, and, though his manhood cries out against the eternal grind and drudgery he has to witness he is powerless to avert it. So they slave and slave, tasting little of life's comfort Do you think I am overdrawing the picture? I would I were for the sake of some I know and thousands I do not know Lives of sacrifice are no easy ones to live, and though we may all in good faith think we could live them and not be unhappy, few of us are the heroines we think we are when the test is applied Living on 'bread and cheese and kisses' reads well in romance but in reality is not pleasant For life at its best has its cares, and husband and wife often encounter troubles that require all the love and respect they have for one another to surmount them "

PORTLAND Or , Jan. 11, 1880 —This is to certify that I have tried all kinds of Patent Medicines, which have failed as a cure in my case (I having a bad cold, which had settled on my lungs) when I was induced to try Prof Rees' Compound Oxygen Treatment, which had the desired effect in two days, and in five days' treatment was completely restored to my sound health. JOHN ROBERTSON.
PORTLAND Or Jan 19, 1880.—Having taken treatment from Prof. Rees for a severe cold in the head, so bad that I could not breathe through my nostrils, and so severe on the lungs that I could not speak, when I was forced by friends to try the Compound Oxygen with very little faith, but the first inhalation made me breath freely, and I am convinced that it is the best and quickest method known for to cure disease and I cheerfully recommend it to all who are suffering from a Cold or Catarrh in the head.

THE CRANBERRY SWAMP

"Of course" said young Doctor Dedling, "a man has his own fortune to look to"

"Of course" said Judith Grey and as she spoke the words a cold chill seemed to creep like slowly congealing ice around her whole heart

"If you had consulted me as to your affairs" went on the young man "instead of taking this extraordinary step entirely without advice or counsel—"

"Yes I know" hurriedly interposed Judith "but its over and past now so perhaps we had better not talk about it"

The red winter sunset was blazing with sullen fire above the cedar copse in the west the leafless trees held up their black arms in a sort of wrestling agony toward the sky as the bleak wind tossed them to and fro and a solitary raven uttered his ominous croak in the woods at the back of the house

"Such a place," said he, "for a woman to select to live in"

"It isn't very cheerful," said Judith "but I've lived here all my life, you know"

"The more reason for wanting to get out of it now" said the doctor impatiently

Judith was silent She looked at the blazing logs on the old fashioned hearth, and tried to keep back the fast rising tears

Dr Dedling rose and took up his hat

"Then I am to consider that our engagement is quite at an end" said the doctor

"Yes," said Judith, in a low tone

"I shall always wish you well" said the doctor, affably

"I thank you," said Judith

"Good by" said Dr Dedling

"Good by!" said Judith

The next moment she was alone with the blazing logs, and the cricket chirping on the hearth, and the strange, weird shadows that came and went on the wainscoted walls

It was just a month to-night since they buried old Miles Grey out of sight Little Judith, who had worn herself out in taking care of him, had dropped a few sincere tears on the cheap coffin that incased his remains, but no one else had seemed particularly to grieve

Mrs Pytchley, her eldest sister, who was married to a New York grocer, had boldly declared that it was high time the old man took himself off the stage of this world, and made no secret of her disappointment, when it was discovered that a thousand dollars in gold pieces represented all his hoarded wealth, with the exception of the cranberry swamp, upon whose verge stood the house, and this dreary property, by the terms of the will, was to be divided between his two nieces, Judith Grey and Maria Pytchley, as they themselves might agree

"I'll take the ready money," said Mrs Pytchley, hastily "What could I do with three or four miles of cranberry swamp?"

"Or what could Judith do with it, either?" said Hobart Pytchley, who was whittling a pine stick beside the fire

"I dare say she could manage very nicely," said Maria "I've heard Uncle Miles say that he sold sixty dollars' worth of cranberries one year out of the swamp,"

"Humph!" grunted Mr Pytchley

"And that's legal interest on a thousand dollars, you know," added his wife "What do you say, Judith?"

"It makes no difference to me," said Judith, quietly

"It does to me, then!" said Mrs. Pytchley. "Because, as you know very well, Hobart's business is in the city, and we could do nothing with a lot of swamp land down here in the backwoods."

So Mrs. Pytchley had taken the lion's share of the old man's behest, and gone back to her city home over Hobart's grocery store, and young Dr Dedling, who had confidently calculated on at least five hundred dollars, to buy surgical instruments and fit up an office in the village adjoining—five hundred dollars as the dowry of his bride-elect—broke his engagement in a fit of pique that Judith should have so deliberately flung her fortune away.

"A set of harpies!" cried he, with disgust.

"Stop, Dr Dedling!" cried Judith, coloring up "You forget that you are speaking of my sister and her husband"

"But they had no business to impose upon you thus!" exclaimed the doctor

"I agreed to the plan, without remonstrance"

Dr. Dedling shrugged his shoulders

"In that," he said sharply, "you showed your lack of common sense. If you had no good regard for yourself, you might have had some for me"

"Was it for money you wanted me?" demanded Judith, stung to the quick

Dr Dedling colored and hesitated

"A man must take monetary matters into consideration," he said

And so it came about that the engagement was canceled, and Judith Grey was sitting there, alone in the wintry twilight with clasped hands and head drooped low upon her breast

Dr Dedling plodded home to the village, and as he passed the brilliant windows of the little hostlery, he paused, remembering the bitter cold of the winter air the frosty influence of the breeze

"I may as well go in and warm myself he thought.

Mine host met him with a cheery air

"Walk in, doctor—walk in," said he "Not that room," as Dedling mechanically laid his hand upon the door-knob of the apartment he usually entered; "The railway committee is a sittin' there This way, please"

"The railway committee" echoed Dedling. "What railway committee? You don't mean that they're actually taking any steps about that old idea of a railway between here and Glassville?"

"Yes, I do," said the landlord "It's a committee of rich capitalists as are building factories close to the Falls and they mean to put up tenement houses all along and lay down a line of rails and—don't say as I mentioned it, doctor, because I only caught a snatch here and there, when I was carrying in the plates and setting on the fruits and nuts and wine—but it's to go right through old Miles Grey's cranberry swamp, the new railway is And the chairman of the committee is going to offer Miss Judith five thousand dollars in good clean, hard money for her share in it"

Dr Dedling started

"Five—thousand—dollars" repeated he, slowly

Could it be a fact? If so—and there seemed very little reason for doubting it—what a fatal mistake he had made in rejecting a bride who could bring him the rich portion of a cranberry swamp as her wedding dower If he had only known this half an hour—one little half hour—ago!

* * * * * * *

"Don't fret about him Judith dear he isn't worth it" urged honest Marmaduke Redfield who had stopped on his way to the postoffice to bring a message from his mother "He was always a pretentious sort of fellow all for outward show, with a heart like stone and a nature as shallow as Deacon Doler's brook"

Judith looked up at the clumsy good-hearted hard handed farmer and wondered that she had never before noticed what a true face and what clear frank eyes he had

"Forget him Judith" pleaded Redfield and she began seriously to think that she would at least make the trial "Come over to our house and stay with mother It's too bleak and lonesome for you here for the present at least Spring will be time enough for you to [illegible] the cranberry swamp"

Judith Grey looked round the solitary room and thought of Mrs Redfield's big cosey kitchen with its bright [illegible] rag carpet its windows lined with [illegible] blooming geraniums and its [illegible] canary bird hanging over the work table

"Do you think" she hesitated "that your mother would be willing to be troubled with such a guest as me?"

[illegible] Redfield's frank [illegible]

"Only try her" said he "Dear Judith you'll be as welcome as flowers in May"

And the next day Mrs Redfield came in with the old farm carryall to claim her guest and the old swamp house was left to its own dreary desolation and the driving snows of January

Scarcely three weeks had elapsed when young Dr Dedling came to the Redfield farm in his new gig with the old roan horse that really made quite a good appearance when you didn't hurry him and the road was tolerably good and it was free from a visitation known as the "leaves"

"There ain't nobody sick here" said Julius, the hired man who was splitting wood at the side of the house as he eyed the doctor rather suspiciously

"No I know it" said Dr Dedling "but I've called to see Miss Grey"

"Miss Grey ain't noways [illegible], as I know of" persisted Julius feeling the edge of the axe and still staring hard at the medical representative of Glassville

"I have called," said Dr Dedling with dignity, "as a friend"

"Oh!" said Julius

"Will you be so kind as to let me in?" persisted the doctor

"'Tain't no use," said Julius rolling a prodigious pine knot down from the pile and preparing himself for a stupendous effort "there ain't nobody at home"

"Nobody at home" echoed the doctor

"They've all gone to church," explained Julius

"To church man! Why it's Tuesday"

"Who said it wa'n't?" retorted Julius "They ain't gone to hear sarvice—they've gone to be married"

"Who?" demanded Dr Dedling

"Our Marmaduke and Miss Judith"

And down came the axe upon the end of the pine knot with a crash that made the man of medicine start back

* * * * * * *

The new railroad was duly constructed directly across the boggy depth of old Miles Grey's cranberry swamp, and the five thousand dollars was placed to Mrs. Marmaduke Redfield's account in the nearest national bank and Mrs Pytchley thinks she made a mistake in taking the gold eagles instead of the cranberry swamp—but young Dr Dedling thinks his mistake was greater still

A BADLY USED GROOM

THE UNCOMFORTABLE WAY IN WHICH HE PASSED HIS WEDDING NIGHT

[From the Cincinnati Enquirer]

A bridal couple from one of our neighboring towns recently married, went to the thriving city of Springfield Ohio, on their bridal tour They arrived at the Lagonda House, in that place about five o clock in the evening The bride waited in the ladies reception room while her liege lord went to the office to register his name and for the first time to write with it, "and wife" The polite clerk was not fied of the fact that he was a fresh and newly married man and the bridal chamber was accordingly assigned them The groom retired from the office accompanied by a servant, and with his bonnie bride repaired to the bridal room In about half an hour the affable clerk was surprised to see the groom walk into the office and still more surprised to notice that he deliberately seated himself, with a disappointed but determined sort of air The clerk waited some minutes, all the time wondering if there could so soon have been a family row He watched the young husband closely endeavoring to discover by his actions the cause of his so suddenly and so soon retiring from the chamber of his lady love But his watching was in vain There sat the groom in the shadow of a pillar, quiet and calm Finally the clerk's curiosity became so great that he determined to interview the young man about the matter Approaching him in a respectful manner, he said

"My friend pardon me but I don't understand why you have so soon left the bridal chamber Has anything serious happened?

"O no" said the young fellow "Jennie is an awful modest girl and she said that she could'nt retire as long as I was in the room I told her she would have to get used to it sooner or later, and might as well commence the first night But she said no and plead so hard, and with such love looks that I couldn't refuse her, and at her request left the room, and came down here"

"Well what are you going to do?" said the curious clerk. "You don't propose to sit up here all night, do you?"

"No siree! You bet I don't Jennie promised me that as soon as she got undressed she would turn the gas low and then ring the bell As soon as I heard it I was to go up to the room. I will sit here, and if you will please tell me when the bell to my room rings I will be obliged, and I will go up"

"All right," said the amused clerk, "when your bell rings I'll tell you" and so saying he left the newly made husband Time rolled on and an hour passed The young fellow anxiously came to the desk and inquired over and over again if the bell hadn't rung? and when the answer came "No sir" he looked troubled and anxious Finally he settled himself in an easy chair and soon the clerk heard his sonorous snores The night passed and daylight came but the bell of the bridal chamber had not so much as tinkled once all night. At 6 o clock the day clerk came on duty and the groom, who was sleeping soundly, was awakened He rubbed his eyes yawned stretched himself and in a confused manner exclaimed "Where am I?"

Then recollecting the condition of affairs he angrily said, "Look ere here you Mr Clerk why the devil didn't you wake me up when that ar bell rang?

"Well sir it didn't ring

"Didn't ring?

"No sir

"Not once?

"No sir not once

"What! Not once during the whole night?

"No"

"Well that is darned strange By gosh I don't understand this business I'll go to the room and see Jennie, and find out what the devil she means keeping me down here all night, and off he started

About 12 o clock he entered the dining room, with bright eyed Jennie on his arm and they sat down to dinner After the repast Jennie went to her room and her handsome and now happy husband repaired to the office to explain things to the clerk

"Look here," he said in a confidential tone "don't say anything about this to any one for Jennie feels awful about it but the truth is she went to turn the gas down low and turned it out This frightened her so that she jumped into bed and pulled the covers over her head and was afraid to get up again to ring the bell and besides, didn't know where the bell was Said she thought I'd come up every minute and waited and waited until she fell asleep Poor girl she nearly cried her eyes out about it I didn't like it much at first but then she felt so awfully sorry and was so sweet and nice and made it all right you know so I don't blame her at all She said I needn't leave the room o nights and I don't propose to either you bet

Advices from the outside indicate that the wheat market has in some slight degree improved but the change has not been of sufficient duration or of sufficient importance to materially affect prices in local circles The few vessels at hand under charter it is claimed have enough in sight to complete their cargoes and shippers manifest no disposition to take up new [illegible] while the markets abroad are in the unsettled condition in which we now find them The tonnage supply is regarded as quite ample and vessels are offering at low rates but exporters here seem to be almost entirely in different spectators while the manipulators in Chicago and New York alternately bull and bear the market as suits their fancy or their interests dictate Transactions in the local market are entirely off and some shippers declare themselves out of the market and at the same time parties who hold considerable quantities of the cereal are quite as independent and express the strongest confidence that further on in the season prices will recuperate—a hope that from the tenor of the most reliable reports is not altogether without foundation To day like the several days last past has been devoid of important features in the home market and though prices have not advanced if we judge by actual transactions there are some reasons to believe that for round lots of choice shipping 1 c [illegible] cents advance on last quotations would be paid This figure $1 8[illegible] however would not call out no great quantity most of those under any compulsion whatever to sell having already parted with their surplus Exporters and speculators are dipping in very cautiously at this time and millers are only buying sufficient to meet present wants facts that show a great doubt as to the future of the trade which however much we would like to we cannot solve

Better Tone in the San Francisco Wheat Market—Reported Sales

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

SAN FRANCISCO Jan 28—6 P M

Wheat—There was decidedly better feeling on change to-day but whether it will result in any movement of consequence time alone can show It seemed however as if the market had a firmer tone although we heard of no sales to corroborate appearances The rumored heavy transactions of more than a week ago were made public to day, consisting of 84 500 centals of No 1 and No 2 shipping The terms were withheld but it is believed that the full figures then ruling were obtained This relief to the market ought to favorably influence future operations.

We have heard of a sale this morning of 500 sacks choice milling, at $2 per cental being rather above the market though for a special purpose also 1200 sacks good No 2 shipping at $1 87½ There were further sales of 17 000 centals and 1600 centals for shipping on private terms

Wheat Shipments.

Exports to day include a cargo of 50 000 centals to England, 4000 do to Callao and 2000 do to Central America.

NEW YORK FREIGHTS AND MARKETS.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

NEW YORK Jan 28—There is nothing new to notice in the freight market via Cape Horn It being very quiet while rates are firmer under scarcity of ships, and difficulty is found in obtaining them to go in certain lines Notwithstanding extreme dullness of freights in other directions vessels are wanted in all lines but as there are but few here that are suitable for this trade owners demands are rather above the views of agents

The only charters to note are the barks Mary D Ames 700 tons, and H G Johnson 1080 tons both with railroad iron to Portland—the former from New York the latter from Philadelphia The demand for freight via the isthmus is lively although the next steamer will not sail till the 10th of February

Markets are still rather quiet although prices generally are firm

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA or SEMINAL WEAKNESS or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances

Lost manhood perfectly restored

Catarrh Bronchitis Throat diseases Skin Diseases Rheumatism Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear Stomach and Bladder he can cure without fail

MIDDLE AGED MEN

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue again changing to a dark and torpid appearance There are many men who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause which is the second stage of seminal weakness Dr S will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs
